

Data Analytics and Project Management

A dark blue diagonal gradient bar that starts from the bottom left and extends towards the top right, covering the lower half of the slide.

Life expectancy over the years

- From 1999 to 2004, Afghanistan's average life expectancy has went from 55 to 57
- A rapid increase from 57 to 65 of age in 2016
- Indication of healthier choices and health awareness

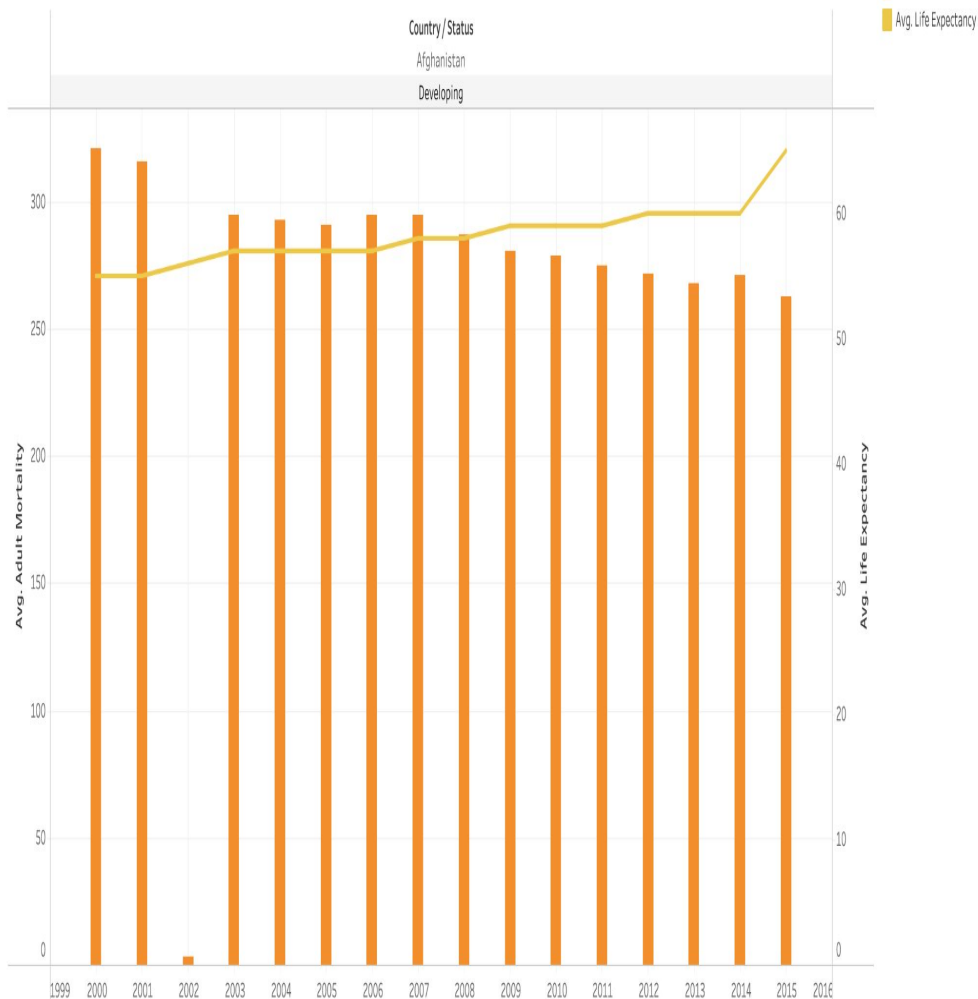

Life expectancy over the years

Adult mortality VS Life Expectancy by year

- In 2000, the average adult death mortality was 321.0
- Average life expectancy was quite low, at the age of 55
- The lower the death rates, the higher the life expectancy

Adult mortality vs Life expectancy by year

Adult and Infant deaths on Life expectancy

- The figure illustrates zero correlation
- In 2002, average adult mortality has been recorded as only 3, whereas, infant death was 88
- The adult death rate has rained roughly 250 in the next 10 years
- In 2009, infant death has decreased by 10%

Adult and Infant deaths on life expectancy by year

